

This is a markdown file

with different heading sizes

Here is a list:

- apples
- bananas
- pears

Here's an ordered list:

1. white
 - with sub items
 - like these
2. black
3. yellow

I'm also creating multiple lines not one after the other using spaces.
I could do this using two spaces after a line instead though like this See?

Now I'm making some bold words. And italicized words.

Maybe a link too.

I can also create links for images:

Yay, apples!

That was a line break yo! (horizontal rules)

Here's a table:

Markdown	Less	Pretty
Still	renders	nicely
1	2	3

Woah...

need a block quote to emphasize this magic

And a code block with no language indicated, so let's throw in a `tag`.
